INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR THE SOCIOLOGY OF LAW

XXVIII. INTERNATIONAL MASTER'S PROGRAMME IN SOCIOLOGY OF LAW

he International Institute for the Sociology of Law (IISJ) was founded in 1988 by the International Sociological Association's Research Committee on the Sociology of Law, and the Basque Government. The IISJ has now become the home of the international sociology of law community.

The Institute is located in the old University of Oñati building, dating from 1543, a magnificent example of Spanish Renaissance architecture. The building has been renovated to accommodate a documentation centre, library, administrative offices and meeting rooms.

Updated information can be obtained from the Institute's website (<http://www.iisj.es>) and the latest news can also be read in the Institute's Newsletter and in Facebook.

The Master's degree in Sociology of Law of the IISL is taught in English. The Master's degree (60 ECTS) is awarded as an official Master of Arts degree of the University of the Basque Country.

The programme has two major components: intensive seminars from September 2017 to March 2018 (40 ECTS credits), and an individual research project (Master's thesis) (20 ECTS credits) defended in September 2018. From April to September, students have the option of remaining in Oñati, visiting another university or going back to their home university.

The course prepares students for independent scientific research and enlarges their capacity for practical problem solving. The programme aims to increase the students' knowledge and understanding of issues of law in society, as well as their cultural, political and economic contexts, from a comparative and international perspective. The course also prepares students for independent research .

Antigua Universidad.

The courses provide an unparalleled opportunity for close personal contacts with eminent scholars in socio-legal studies, who introduce students to the leading work, and can provide direct contacts to the main researchers and networks in their field. The Scientific Director also helps in the development of the final dissertation, while providing continuity and individual advice and supervision.

Students may apply to participate in one or more of the specific courses offered without taking the whole degree

APPLICATION PROCEDURES

Candidates must have a University degree in sociology, law, social sciences and/or in another discipline related to Sociology of Law. Undergraduates in their final year may be admitted on the basis of their previous results, but they must already have been awarded their first degree diploma by the time the Master's course begins.

Applicants must display a very good working knowledge of English, reading and writing as well as spoken. The ability to use social science literature published in other languages is useful.

Total tuition fees for the 2017/18 Master's Programme come to €3,000. Tuition fees for participation in single courses are €300.

The IISL can offer a limited number of grants to support students who would otherwise not be able to afford to attend the Master's Programme. Grants can cover part of or all the tuition fees and/or the cost of a shared room in the Institute's Residence. Grants include the Renato Treves Scholarships, the Neelan Tiruchelvam Fellowships and a scholarship for local candidates provided by the Oñati Town Hall.
