

CURRICULUM VITAE

(15 March 2020)

Stephan Parmentier studied law, political science and sociology at the universities of Ghent and Leuven (Belgium) and sociology and conflict resolution at the Humphrey Institute for Public Affairs, University of Minnesota-Twin Cities (U.S.A.). He currently teaches sociology of crime, law, and human rights at the Faculty of Law of the University of Leuven, and coordinates the Research Line on Human Rights and Transitional Justice at the Leuven Institute of Criminology. Since September 2017 he serves as the Chairperson of the Interfaculty Council of Development Cooperation at the University of Leuven, a Board member of the Centre for Global Governance Studies at KU Leuven and a member of the Leuven Mediation Platform. He previously served as the Coordinator of international relations in criminology, Chairperson of the Department of Criminal Law and Criminology (2005-2009), and Academic Secretary of the Faculty of Law (2002-2005).

In July 2010 he was elected Secretary-General of the International Society for Criminology (re-elected in August 2014), and since many years he is a member of the Advisory Board of the Oxford Centre of Criminology and the International Centre for Transitional Justice (New York and Brussels). Since 2018 he serves on the Scientific Council of the Museum for Holocaust and Human Rights in Mechelen, and in September 2018 was appointed by the Belgian Minister of Justice on the 3-person expert committee for the establishment of a national human rights institution in Belgium. His EU funded multi-year exchange project between Europe and Canada 'Globus: Social Justice and Human Rights in a Globalised World' (2002-2006) was ranked in 2008 as one of a dozen 'good practices' in international cooperation. In November 2017 he received the Award 'Third Way' from the Serbian Society of Victimology for his research on a non-conflict and comprehensive approach to dealing with war and war crimes.

All over the globe he has served as a visiting professor (Oñati, San José, Sydney, Tilburg, Tokyo, and Venice), visiting scholar (Buenos Aires, Harvard, Oxford, Stellenbosch, Sydney) and guest lecturer in the fields of human rights, justice and peace, criminology and socio-legal studies. Stephan Parmentier is the founder and general editor of the international book 'Series on Transitional Justice' (Intersentia Publishers, Cambridge/Antwerp), and editor of 'The International Journal of Restorative Justice' (Eleven Publishing, The Hague). He co-founded and co-directs the Flemish Interuniversity Research Network on Law and Development and co-organised for many years the summer courses on Human Rights for Development. He also serves as a referee to the ERC funding schemes of the European Union, and several national and international research foundations. His research interests include political crimes and transitional justice, human rights and migration, and restorative justice and peacebuilding. He has conducted empirical work in Bosnia/Serbia, Central and Southern Africa, and Central and South America.

Over the past quarter century he has been an advisor and consultant to the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture, the Belgian Minister of the Interior and the Minister of Justice, the Belgian Federal Police, the King Baudouin Foundation, and several non-governmental organisations. Between 1999 and 2002 he served as the vice-president of the Flemish section of Amnesty International.
